WELCOME TO GEORGETOWN

Lined with quaint cobblestone streets and 18th and 19th century architecture, Georgetown is a perfect blend of old and new. Founded in 1751, the neighborhood was established 40 years before Washington, as a tobacco port town in Maryland. Designated a National Historic Landmark, today Georgetown features over 450 stores, restaurants and service establishments, all nestled in historic brick row houses that give the neighborhood its distinct character that sets it apart from the rest of Washington.

Georgetown has over 450 stores, restaurants, art galleries, salons, spas, hotels and service establishments within one square mile.

Approximately 73% of Georgetown retailers are independent/regional shops and 27% of Georgetown shops are national/international retailers.

Georgetown has over 90 restaurants and 34 specialty food stores—totaling 124 ways for foodies to enjoy the neighborhood’s offerings.

The neighborhood offers 8 hotels and inns, including Washington’s only five-star hotel, comprising over 1,000 hotel guest rooms.

Georgetown inspires creative minds—there are 43 architecture and design firms and 35 marketing and PR agencies here.

With Georgetown University and George Washington University nearby, approximately 28,000 college students live within one mile of Georgetown.
If shopping is your game, Georgetown is your playground. Play “dress up” with one-of-a-kind finds from the neighborhood’s over 150 fashion specialty stores, or play “house” among the showrooms at the over 70 independent, national, and international home furnishings retailers that call Georgetown home.
Cady’s Alley // M Street between 33rd and 34th Streets
Cady’s Alley plays a key role in Georgetown’s designation as DC’s Design District. Offering a delightful mix of locally-based antique and contemporary furnishing operators as well as the nation’s leading high-end designers, Cady’s Alley is a must-see for home design shoppers. Cady’s Alley also features apparel retailers including City Sports, Relish, Babette, and Intermix as well as the popular Georgetown dining and entertainment hotspots, Kafe Leopold and L2 Lounge.

Book Hill // Wisconsin Avenue from P St. to Reservoir Rd.
The Book Hill section of Georgetown is reminiscent of a European shopping destination, boasting independent retailers set in a picturesque neighborhood. Cafés, fine art galleries, clothing, antique shops and more make Book Hill a unique shopping destination situated above bustling M Street. The neighborhood’s namesake, Book Hill Park, provides an ideal location for a shopping break where you can also pop into the Georgetown Public Library, whose Peabody Room offers a wealth of information on Georgetown’s history.

M Street
M Street is one of the most iconic shopping streets in the country, lined with international, national, and local retailers housed in historic buildings that give them a unique Georgetown character. The diverse mix of stores includes AllSaints Spitalfield, Anthropologie, Athleta, Barneys CO-OP, Brooks Brothers, Camper, CB2, Cusp, J. Crew, lululemon athletica, Michael Kors, Nike, and rag & bone, among others.

Wisconsin Avenue
Wisconsin Avenue connects the quaint Book Hill section of Georgetown with cosmopolitan M Street. As such, the street represents a mix of both with recognizable brands like Apple, Madewell, Jack Spade, Zara, GAP, Vineyard Vines, Jonathan Adler, and Ugg as well as independent boutiques and antique stores.

Georgetown hosts four annual signature events for all audiences. The “Georgetown French Market” event takes place in April and kicks off spring, with a two-day festival and Parisian-inspired sidewalk sale in the Book Hill neighborhood of Georgetown. “Taste of Georgetown” in June focuses on the area’s dining options and famed restaurants. In September, Georgetown joins in the global “Fashion’s Night Out” with an evening full of events and promotions celebrating DC’s fashion epicenter. Get into the holiday spirit with “Merriment in Georgetown”, a holiday festival that incorporates Georgetown’s infinite retail options for holiday shopping, wintertime treats and festive entertainment.

1 Georgetown French Market
   The ever-popular Georgetown French Market event brings over 5,000 attendees to the streets of Georgetown every April. Participating Book Hill merchants set up tables along Wisconsin Avenue from P Street to Reservoir Road with wares up to 70% off. Sale merchandise includes clothing, shoes, housewares, jewelry, furniture and more. Live music, French fare, face painting, caricatures and more round out this popular annual event.

2 Taste of Georgetown
   The annual Taste of Georgetown, taking place in June, showcases the spectacular cuisine of 30 of Washington, D.C.’s finest restaurants.
Now in its 20th year, the Taste highlights Georgetown's culinary personalities and features nearly sixty delectable dishes to sample, as well as wine pairings and live music. A celebration of food, wine, and music, the Taste of Georgetown has become the premier food and wine festival of D.C. benefiting the Georgetown Ministry Center’s services supporting the homeless. www.tasteofgeorgetown.com

3 Fashion’s Night Out

Every September, Georgetown serves as the regional host for Fashion’s Night Out, a global event founded by Conde Nast & Vogue Magazine in 2009 to celebrate fashion, restore consumer confidence, boost the industry’s economy, and put the fun back in shopping. Bringing together over 100 of the neighborhood’s ultra-chic stores, restaurants, spas, and salons, Fashion’s Night Out features fabulous fashion events, special discounts and promotions, and extended shopping hours. The event is hosted by a prominent committee of DC’s most style savvy personalities and professionals. www.fashionsnightoutgeorgetowndc.com.

4 Merriment in Georgetown

This event is DC’s most anticipated holiday shopping and family event of the year and takes place in the heart of Georgetown. Usher in the holiday season with special sales and events, seasonal festivities, live entertainment, children’s activities, and culinary treats.
History beckons at every turn in Georgetown. The venerable C&O Canal encompasses a scenic park area offering miles of hiking and biking trails. Georgetown also offers dozens of historic sites, such as Washington’s oldest house, the Old Stone House, open to the public as part of the National Park Service. In addition to guided tours of beautiful Georgetown estates and gardens, scenic tours of the area are available daily, as are a variety of guided walking tours.

1. Blues Alley
   1073 Wisconsin Ave., NW // 202.337.4141
   Founded in 1965, Blues Alley is the nation’s oldest continuing jazz supper club, showcasing internationally renowned musicians in a small intimate setting on a nightly basis. Located in the heart of Georgetown in an 18th century red brick carriage house, Blues Alley offers its patrons a unique ambiance, reminiscent of the jazz clubs of the 1920’s and 30’s.

2. C & O Canal
   The Chesapeake & Ohio Canal (C & O Canal) is a national historic park that runs 184.5 miles along the Potomac River, starting in Georgetown and ending in Cumberland, Maryland. The towpath along the C & O Canal provides a popular route for rom walkers, runners, and bikers.

4 Dumbarton Oaks Museum and Garden
31st & R Streets, NW // 202.339.6401
The Federal-style house, built in 1801, features the former owners’ Byzantine and Pre-Columbian art collections. The property also contains a remarkable garden boasting 10 acres of trees, including Washington’s famed Cherry Blossoms, as well as flowers, garden furniture and other ornamental garden fixtures. www.doaks.org.

---

5 Old Stone House
3051 M St., NW // 202.426.6851
An example of vernacular architecture, Washington’s oldest home, the Old Stone House, was built in 1765 using locally available resources. The house was renovated by the National Park Service in the 1950s and is run by the National Park Service today. The property also includes a seasonal landscaped garden to the rear of the house—perfect for a quiet retreat within Georgetown. Open Wed – Sunday from 12 to 5 p.m.

Design to print around cup as shown above. Colors depicted in above design are intended to be a general match to actual print colors. Please refer to attached Pantone color swatches for actual print colors to be used. Because the colors will be printed on a clear cup surface, the natural contrast in the background necessary to highlight the colors' vibrancy will be absent. This may result in the colors having a slightly more subdued appearance on the final cup print than appears on the Pantone swatches. The proof material approximates the clarity of the cup.
