LETTER TO MEMBERS

Three years ago, Georgetown – along with the rest of the city – faced its biggest challenges in living memory. Our commercial district was in crisis and the future was uncertain for many of our businesses, with no idea how long it might take to recover.

Today, Georgetown is the hottest retail neighborhood in the city, and we are astounded by how far it has come – most notably in FY23.

Our commercial district saw a record amount of retail leasing activity during the 12-month period ending in September 2023, with a total of 48 business openings and a true retail vacancy of just 7% - nearly half of what it was two years ago.

Publications from Washingtonian to Eater DC named Georgetown the "in" restaurant neighborhood of the year, as buzz steadily grew from Michelin-starred Chef Michael Rafidi's Yellow opening at the end of 2022, to the news of Stephen Starr and Nancy Silverton's restaurant, Osteria Mozza, coming to the old Dean & DeLuca space in 2024. The BID's streatery program supported a thriving outdoor dining scene for 35 restaurants, further transforming Georgetown for the better. This increase in food establishments directly addresses a gap that the BID identified in a 2013 retail mix study and is putting us on a stronger footing for the future.

Residents and visitors not only shopped and dined in Georgetown but enthusiastically attended year-round events. The 8th edition of Georgetown GLOW returned in the winter for the first time since the pandemic – brightening the holidays with unique light art installations – while the 20th annual Georgetown French Market drew nearly 23,000 people to upper Wisconsin Avenue in April, and summer dance classes reintroduced visitors to the Georgetown waterfront.

From April through October, Georgetown Heritage's second C&O Canal boat season also enlivened our historic and evolving waterway. More than 15,000 riders from 53 U.S. states and territories and 42 countries came aboard for a boat tour, as well as 200 DC public school students on field trips.

As we welcomed people to Georgetown in pre-pandemic numbers, accessibility was top of mind. The 15-month Georgetown Transportation Access & Circulation study launched in March to plan short- and medium-term transportation improvements for the entire Georgetown neighborhood.

Transportation is not the only challenge we face in the coming years. While retail and restaurant vacancies have improved dramatically, low office occupancy continues to take a toll on Georgetown. High office vacancy is not a problem unique to us but one that must be confronted to ensure we maintain diverse economic activity seven days a week.

Georgetown is thriving again, but there is no shortage of work to be done in the year ahead. We look forward to working with several new and talented Board members and staff, whose diverse backgrounds and skillsets will help us tackle that work with creativity and resolve.

Sincerely.

Bruce Baschuk, Chair Board of Directors be Sternlieb, CEO & President Georgetown BID

STREETSCAPE & STREET SERVICES

Our Streetscape & Street Services team is the face of the Georgetown BID.

This dedicated crew of 29 full- and part-time street team members, contracted by Block by Block and overseen by BID staff, were on the street every day of the year except Thanksgiving and Christmas, sweeping 142 block faces and 20 alleys, power washing sidewalks and alleys, removing snow and ice, and providing services along the Canal.

Fiscal Year 2023 Accomplishments:

- Entered into a new Cooperative Agreement with the National Park Service to provide services along a sixmile stretch of the C&O Canal.
- Removed more than 1.2 million pounds of trash and litter from 175 trash bins and removed or covered more than 3,380 graffiti tags and stickers.
- Completed over 668 brick repair or replacement jobs.
- Maintained 305 flower baskets, and installed 200 holiday wreaths on light poles and nearly 7 miles of LED holiday lights throughout Georgetown.
- Continued administering rodent abatement programs with tools such as Burrow RX monoxide, new "ratproof" trash cans and compactors, and canines. Over 2,350 burrows were inspected and treated, eliminating a remarkable number of colonies.
- Homeless Outreach Team interacted with nearly 1,430 homeless individuals, with 1,350 services provided.
- Monitored 30+ streateries and sidewalk extension decking.

PLANNING, PLACEMAKING & ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

It seemed like a new retail or restaurant opening was announced every week as Georgetown vacancy rates dropped to pre-pandemic levels.

Our Planning, Placemaking, and Economic Development team worked closely with brokers and owners to provide data and facilitate new openings, while improving the public environment for customers and businesses.

Fiscal Year 2023 Accomplishments:

Economic Development

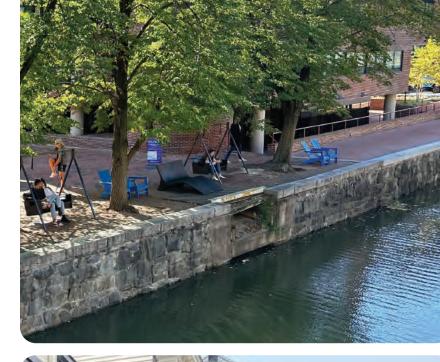

- Welcomed 48 new businesses to the neighborhood and supported with permitting and business openings.
- Facilitated attracting arts and culture pop-ups to Georgetown, including Museum of Failure and the Capital Fringe Festival, to activate vacant and underutilized commercial space and attract new visitors to the neighborhood.
- Collected, analyzed and disseminated economic and demographic information and custom reporting to brokers, property owners, and prospective tenants to help with leasing.
- Hosted periodic BID and community meetings to collaboratively address neighborhood needs.

Placemaking

- Completed construction on the Capital Crescent Trailhead at the west end of Water Street.
- Refurbished plaza furniture with 175+ newly painted bistro tables and chairs and new umbrellas.
- Maintained public furnishings in eight public plazas around Georgetown with daily cleaning.
- Oversaw another phase of the tree box improvements and updated masterplan for future improvements to bring every tree box in the BID up to a minimum standard.
- Assisted the Georgetown Heritage staff with C&O Canal plan and revitalization efforts and transition to a new Project Manager.

Streateries & Extended Sidewalks

- Managed and maintained 2,700 linear feet of sidewalk extensions, streateries, extended bus stops, and bike and scooter parking space, enabling 35 restaurants to operate outdoors in the BID for the first time and improving the pedestrian zone to handle high volumes of people more comfortably.
- Worked with the city, ANC, Old Georgetown Board, and community on a permit extension that will allow outdoor dining to continue through 2025, while giving the BID, city, and community time to redesign and build new, high-quality, and aesthetically appropriate sidewalk extensions and streateries.
- Achieved a 55% reduction in traffic crashes on M St from 2019 to 2023, during the time of the streateries and sidewalk extensions.
- Surveyed over 600 visitors, residents, and businesses to measure the impact of the streateries and sidewalk extensions on the community.

TRANSPORTATION

We still don't have a Metro station!

Now that that's out of the way, let's focus on the real headline: There are more ways than ever to get to Georgetown, and move around once you're here. The BID continued to work on shortand long-term initiatives to make Georgetown more accessible from various transportation modes.

Fiscal Year 2023 Accomplishments:

- Launched the 15-month Georgetown Transportation Access & Circulation study in March to plan short- and long-term transportation improvements for the entire Georgetown neighborhood and organized community engagement, led stakeholder meetings, and hosted site visits.
- Successfully advocated for upgraded LED safety lighting under the Whitehurst Freeway above Water St and K St as part of DDOT's public-private partnership to upgrade street lighting citywide.
- The BID-initiated signalized mid-block crosswalk was installed on the 3200 block of M St to reduce j-walking and improve pedestrian safety and mobility.
- Collaborated with DDOT to install a new pedestrian crosswalk at the intersection of M St and Thomas Jefferson St to improve pedestrian safety.
- Planned and prepared improvements for the 34th St bike ramp from Water St to the C&O Canal Towpath to make it easier to roll a bike up or down the staircase.

MARKETING, EVENTS & COMMUNICATIONS

Georgetown seemed to be on every "it" list of the past year - from being named Eater DC's favorite dining-out neighborhood of 2022, to Washingtonian's "in" restaurant scene of 2023.

The BID's Marketing, Events & Communications team took advantage of the momentum, reaching curious and engaged audiences across channels and reminding them why there's only one Georgetown.

Fiscal Year 2023 Accomplishments:

- Continued to evolve "Unexpected" visitor marketing campaign to bring local and regional visitors to Georgetown. The campaign included advertising on radio, social media, YouTube, streaming audio and video, and Google's paid search and display ad network, for a total of more than 10 million total impressions and 261,000+ clicks.
- Hosted 20th annual Georgetown French Market, which drew nearly 24,000 attendees, and the 8th edition of Georgetown GLOW – back to its traditional winter schedule for the first time since COVID – which brought an additional 52,000 people to Georgetown.
- Partnered with the Capital Fringe Festival and Thomas Jefferson St buildings to bring the performing arts festival to Georgetown for a second consecutive year, with 194 shows and events, and 275 cast and crew performing over eight nights.
- Saw a 23% increase in total audience growth across social media platforms, with nearly 123,000 followers.

Piloted new social media influencer partnership program, working with five influencers who produced content for Georgetown that received over 131,000 views and more than 20,000 engagements.

- Reached a new BIDness milestone with a 42% open rate nearly double the average email newsletter open rate across industries.
- Managed media relations, communications, and social media for Georgetown Heritage's second C&O Canal boat season and offered event and marketing support. Our Canal boat advertising campaign increased Georgetown Heritage website traffic by more than 150%
- Partnered with Dancing on the Waterfront to bring their free weekly outdoor dance class to Georgetown Waterfront Park on Tuesday nights in August, with 200 attendees per class.

GEORGETOWN HERITAGE

Thousands of people took a ride through history as Georgetown Heritage, the BID's sister organization, operated its second C&O Canal boat tour season.

Between April and October, 15,000 passengers from 53 U.S. states and territories and 42 countries took the boat tour. Additionally, Georgetown Heritage hosted school field trips for 200 public school students, university alumni groups, young adult clubs, and senior organizations - and even ended the season with a Halloween-themed ghost cruise.

The Canal boat continued to garner positive and in-depth media coverage, from features in The Washington Post, to NBC and Chesapeake Bay Magazine.

The next phase of rehabilitation along the Canal – conducted by the National Park Service – will begin in 2024, with boat tours slated to return in 2026. Although the Canal will be dewatered for this restoration work, school visits, new walking tours, volunteer opportunities and onsite events will keep the community engaged in Georgetown Heritage's mission and future boat seasons.
